DRDA ART's virtual exhibition, 'New Horizons. Echoes of Unity,' unites talented artists from across the globe, and was launched by the Barcelona-based art platform to promote inclusivity. The unique exhibition is accessible until January 31st, 2024, and is held at the virtual 'DRDA ART Meta-Museum' metaverse.

Inviting visitors on a transformative journey of diversity and inclusion, the exhibit features artists from Spain, Mexico, Indonesia, New York and more, amplifying global voices around unity. Award-winning artists like Marcelo Suaznabar, Elisa Valenti, and Toni Rubio are featured among others, contributing to an art showcase centered around creating a more understanding and inclusive global community.

DRDA ART's co-founder and director, María José González, emphasizes the power of art to inspire change and believes in leveraging new technologies for art accessibility, diversity and inclusion.
